John and Nancy (Williams) Partee

"When John and Nancy (Williams) Partee came from Ross County, Ohio to Williams County in 1823, their Route was by Sidney and Wapakoneta and by the Auglaize River to Old Fort Amandon and Fort Jennings; thence down the river to Old Fort Defiance which was yet partially preserved as well as Old Fort Winchester., which at that time was a stockade." It was not far from the present site of the Russell House on the west bank of the Auglaize River. They proceeded along the Tiffin River until they came to Joseph Partee's house. After spending the night they cut their way to what became the old homestead. It was an unbroken wilderness inhabited by wild beasts and Indians. The Indians were generally friendly and they came to know Chief Occonoxee, a Potawatamie and Shane who stated he was born under the large apple tree near the bank of the river across from Defiance.

About 1840 John Partee, Sr. and his wife Nancy removed to near Pulaski, Williams Co. where Nancy died in 1844. John, Sr. returned to the home of his youngest son Capt. John, Jr.. He died there in 1846 aged 81 years.
Both were buried in the Old Webb Cemetery, now known as the Noble-Tiffin Twp. Cemetery.

Dear Connie,

Happy to hear about a new cousin.

Not knowing what you already have I am enclosing some sheets. All this began before computer age & lack of knowledge about recording sources so —.

I really do have a lot of documentation and am willing to share. If you'll ask for specifics & will let you know if I have it. Glad to help in any way I can.

Am sending the little write up about ~~Capt~~ John & Nancy Wms. Partee as it gives the route they took from Lees Co to Wms. Co. & that info is from Capt. John Partee's (my great grandfather) obit.

I'm sitting at home recovering from an operation & can hardly wait to get up & going again - I can't do steps yet so can't get to my computer. Do you have e-m? We have a Partee/Purtee family thing going & having a reunion in ~~Waterville~~ Circleville, OH in Aug.

Look forward to hearing from you.

found three bee trees in one day. At the time of the excitement about the line of Ohio and Michigan, when the citizens of Defiance expected war, he remembers that the line was surveyed by Miller Arrowsmith and Sydney Sprague and others, and of a great charge upon them and their retreat, which proved quite a rich joke, and was told with many exaggerations, at the time, but the excitement died out and no harm was done. Mr. John Partee died on the old farm owned by his son John, about 1844, aged about eighty years. He was a soldier in the war of 1812; James and Joseph Partee were also soldiers in the war of 1812. The first school was taught by W. W. Sellick in a double log cabin where Enoch and Joseph Partee's families lived. Mr. Brice Hilton was also an early teacher. Cannot give the number of schools taught in the township. There are two Methodist Episcopal Churches, one United Brethren and one Evangelical Church, which cost about $1,000. Rev. Bechtol is the United Brethren pastor. Mr. Partee attended school when taught by Mr. Brice Hilton.

Barnett G. Statler was born in Danville, Knox Co., Ohio, March 2, 1822, son of Mathias Statler, who was born in Hagerstown, Va., December 28, 1787. Mathias Statler, Sr., Barnett's grandfather, when a boy fourteen or fifteen years old, in 1764, ran away from his home in Berlin, Germany, and concealed himself in a vessel which sailed for America, landing at New York in November, 1764. He served during the Revolution, and for a gallant act, whereby he saved an officer's life, he was given a farm near Hagerstown, Md. He had determined to return to Germany and wed, if possible, a young woman, Katie, the playmate of his youth, but shortly before sailing, a German emigrant ship arrived with his mother and Katie on board. Mathias and Katie were married and settled on the farm near Hagerstown. Of their four children, Mathias was the eldest. At seventeen, he left home, went to Pittsburgh and there learned the blacksmith trade. At the age of twenty, he removed to Stillwater, Belmont Co., Ohio, and worked at the trade. January 1, 1811, he married Nancy Groves, a daughter of Capt. Groves, a Revolutionary officer. She was born April 25, 1793, the eldest of a family of thirteen children. Her father was English and her mother Irish. Mathias was drafted in the service in the fall of 1814 and left Stillwater with twenty-five others for Fort Meigs. They arrived just in time to assist in burying the dead, and soon after went to Fort Defiance. When they reached it, peace was declared, and they returned home. Mathias soon after removed to Danville, Knox County, where he engaged in backsmithing and keeping tavern. Shortly after, his house was destroyed by fire and the eldest daughter, Rebecca, perished in the flames. Of their thirteen children, ten grew to manhood and womanhood. Of these, Barnett learned the blacksmith trade. He traveled about a great deal, and at Lima, Ohio, met Laura E. Slayton, whom he married December 29, 1845. She was of Scotch and English descent. After marriage, they removed to Kalida, Putnam County, where he worked at his trade eight months. He came to Defiance August 1, 1846, and blacksmithed for William Warren a short time at $20 per month. He then built a shop on the site of P. Kettenring's machine shops, and later further down the canal near Green's printing office. He followed this trade here for thirteen years; then traded his property and removed to the farm in Noble Township where he now resides. He has since followed farming very successfully. Mr. Statler has five children, three daughters and two sons.

William Travis, one of the early settlers of Defiance County, was born in Adams County, Ohio, February 1, 1800. His parents were formerly from Kentucky, moving from there to Adams County, Ohio, and remaining until March, 1809, when they moved to the county of Delaware, remaining in this county until 1819, when Mr. Travis left his father's house and came to Fort Defiance. He returned to Delaware County the same year, remaining until the summer of 1822, and on the 23d of July, 1822, was married to Miss Mary C. Swartz, of Delaware County. Mr. Travis, his wife and one child, accompanied by David Perdue, his wife and one child, on the 1st of March, 1824, started from Delaware County to come to this county. They loaded their goods and effects belonging to both families on a big wagon which was drawn by two yoke of oxen and one horse. They came across the country through the woods, cutting their way a part of the time, the woods being thick and the roads narrow and not much traveled. The timber would fall across the road and would have to be cut away by them before they could pass on their way. Passed through the counties of Delaware, Union, Champaign and Miami, then turned to the St. Mary's River. On arriving at the river, they met with Oliver Crain, who had a large dugout, a boat made out of a large tree. He, too, was coming to this county, and they made arrangements with him to bring their families and goods on this boat down the river to Defiance; they helped manage the boat on the way down as a compensation to him for bringing their families and goods. Before they reached Defiance, they bought the boat of Mr. Crain, he stopping off in Crain Township, Paulding County. They brought their goods on to Defiance, landing here on the 1st day of April, 1824. Mr. Travis then settled on the Auglaize River, south of Defiance, about one

A reunion, called for the Survivors of the Siege of Fort Meigs, was held on the site of the Fort in June, 1870, at which forty-four responded to the roll-call. Some of these men were about eighty years old, and all were approximating this age. Their enjoyment of the occasion was great and heartfelt. Captain Leslie Combs was present, now bearing the title General, but not with full historical accuracy of speech in his address. The able Colonel Charles S. Todd, and Peter Navarre, were also present. These veterans were accorded a warm reception by the citizens of Perrysburg, Maumee, and vicinity. At the head of the large procession to the site of the Fort, was carried a flag that waved over the Fort during the Siege. It was owned by David M'Chesney of Warren County, Ohio, and was carried on this occasion by his father-in-law Colonel Irvine, one of the veterans. This flag was torn and time-stained, but its gilt inscription was yet legible, viz: 2nd Com'd, 1st Squad, 3rd Brigade, 1st Div., Ohio Militia.

The Site and Village of Defiance — Williams County.

Both the French and English had trading posts for the Aborigines at convenient places along the rivers from early dates — the former from the latter part of the seventeenth century, and the latter from the first half of the eighteenth; and occasionally a post assumed an air of permanence. Defiance was a favorite place for all parties on account of its being the central part of the Basin, and the point of union of three rivers. The following account by Oliver M. Spencer, who was for some time a captive of the Shawnee Aborigines at the site of the present City of Defiance, describes the settlement at this place in the year 1792, two years before the coming of General Wayne's army, viz:

> Extending from the Maumee a quarter of a mile up the Auglaise, about two hundred yards in width, was an open space on the west and south of which were oak woods with hazel undergrowth. Within this opening, a few hundred yards above the point [between the rivers] on the steep high bank of the Auglaise, were five or six cabins and log houses inhabited principally by traders with the Aborigines. The most northerly, a large hewed log house divided below into three apartments, was occupied as a warehouse, store, and dwelling by George Ironside the most wealthy and influential of the traders on the point. Next to his were the houses of Pirault [Pero] a French baker, and M'Kenzie a Scot who, in addition to merchandizing, followed the occupation of a silversmith exchanging with the Aborigines his brooches, eardrops, and other silver ornaments at an enormous profit, for skins [of wild animals]. Still farther up were several other families of French and English, and two American prisoners — Henry Ball a soldier taken at St. Clair's defeat, and his wife Polly Meadows captured at the same time — were allowed to live here and by labor to pay their masters the price of their ransom, he by boating to the [lower] rapids of the Maumee, and she by washing and sewing. Fronting the house of Ironside, and about fifty yards from the bank [of the Auglaise], was a small stockade enclosing two hewed log houses, one of which was occupied by James Girty (brother of Simon) the other occasionally [occupied] by M'Kee and Eliott British Aborigine Agents living at Detroit [by the lower Detroit River, and the lower Maumee]. . . .

I spent this day very pleasantly among the traders, dining with Mr. Ironside who treated me with great kindness. I found him a very sociable and intelligent man, humane and benevolent. He seemed much interested in the story of my captivity and appeared to sympathize with me, gave me some useful advice and direction for the regulation of my conduct, and a great deal of information relative to the Aborigines, their history, customs and manners. On the following day I was highly gratified in seeing at our cabin [on the north side of the Maumee opposite the point] my late townsman William Moore [also a prisoner with the Aborigines], who had just returned from the rapids about sixty miles below.* . .

Occasionally an American trader tarried here for a time during the garrisoning of Fort Defiance, but no permanent settlement was then attempted by Americans. The British practically held possession of the Maumee, or largely dominated the Aborigines to within a few miles of Fort Wayne, until the coming of the Army of the Northwest in 1812, and the traders and families at the central and upper parts of the Basin, so far as we know, were mostly if not all French and British.†

Several of the soldiers who served at Fort Winchester and along the Maumee in the War of 1812, returned to Defiance and its vicinity at the close of the war. Among those who returned in 1815-16 as settlers in the true sense and were the first to occupy the buildings of Fort Winchester after their abandonment by the soldiers, were John and William Preston‡ brothers; James Partee, John Plummer, John Perkins, and Montgomery Evans. The buildings of the Fort thus again served an excellent purpose, post bellum auxillium, as homes for successive new comers so long as their timbers remained in fit condition for their occupancy; and then the better timbers were used to piece out new buildings in the neighborhood, while the poorer ones served as ready supplies for the winter fires.

John Preston married a daughter of Judge Ewing of Troy, Ohio. He died about the year 1820. William Preston became the first sheriff in this part of Ohio, in 1824. He married a Miss Butler whose brothers dwelt at the site of the present Florida, Henry County. He removed to a farm in St. Joseph Township, Williams County, probably in 1827, where he died about 1828. His surname is perpetuated at Defiance in island and creek or 'run.' John Perkins came from near Chillicothe, and dwelt some years at Camp No. Three—see map ante page 191. He assisted in the United States Survey of these lands, and then built the first sawing and flouring mills in this part of Ohio at Brunersburg in 1822—see ante page 509. About the year 1833 (or 1839?) he sold

† There were many Scotch and Irish in the early armies in America; and the term British as used in this book includes all persons who remained friendly to the British government.

these mills, and built others at Lafayette, Williams County, where he died. He was one of the first three Associate Judges of Williams County. James Partee died many years later on his farm in Noble Township on the

FORT DEFIANCE PARK AND CENTENNIAL BLOCKHOUSES

Looking west across the ice and snow covered mouth of the Auglaise River and up the Maumee, the Clinton Street Bridge in the distance, 12th December, 1900.

These Blockhouses were built in July, 1894, for the Centennial Celebration of Fort Defiance August 8th and 9th, 1894. William M'Kinley, then Governor of Ohio, was the principal orator. The logs composing these Blockhouses were of many species of timber, and were donated and delivered by the citizens of town and country around. The roofs began to decay and, having fulfilled the purpose of their construction, the buildings were sold by the Defiance (City) Park Commissioners to the highest bidder for $143.33 and they were removed in September and October, 1901. Each Blockhouse was 22 feet square on the ground, the logs being hewn (in this instance sawn) to fit closely together. They were two stories in height, the first story being nine feet high. The second story was seven feet from floor to eaves; and it projected over the sides of the first story, all around, so as to leave an opening of eight inches between the inner wall of the second story and the outer wall of the first. This, as well as the diagonal or bastion setting of the houses (see ground plan ante page 199) enabled the soldiers on the floor above to keep the outer walls of the first story under full observation. The east Blockhouse carried a square, protected outlook above the roof with inside stairs leading to it. Each of the original Blockhouses carried a cupola— see ante page 200. The centennial houses were otherwise built as near like the original ones as possible to determine, and they well fitted the existing embankments. But a short section of Palisade, to illustrate the connection of the inner corners of the Blockhouses, was built for the Centennial Celebration; it is seen in the engraving between the two houses to the left.

The trees in the Park (Honey Locust, Gleditsia triacanthos, L.) have grown from the seed since the War of 1812. The largest is somewhat over sixteen feet in circumference at the smallest part of its trunk.

The platform seen at the Point bore no relation to the Fort. It was a resting place and outlook for visitors. Becoming unsafe, it was removed in 1902.

right bank of the Tiffin River. He married a daughter of John Perkins. John Plummer also cleared a farm in Tiffin Township.

William Travis, father of the present citizens William C. and Forman E. Travis, first visited Defiance in 1819. In addition to the Americans before named there were then here John Driver and family. He was a silversmith and was soon joined by his brother Thomas who settled on a farm a few miles up the Maumee. There were also here at this time five French traders, three having cabins near Fort Defiance point, one being kept by Peter Lombard who later lived in Delaware Township, two were situated near the Maumee at the present Perry Street, and two at the top of the bluff on the north side of the Maumee near the present Clinton Street. About this time John and George Hollister established a store at the top of the bluff and there continued for several years, the trade being conducted for them part of the time by Peter Bellaire and George Lantz. They were of the four brothers Hollister (Frank and William being the names of the other two) who came from Pittsfield, Massachusetts, through Buffalo. They had a store at Orleans and later at Perrysburg, and perhaps elsewhere along the Maumee, for trade with the Aborigines for furs and other peltries, also for their annuity money. William Travis brought the first wagon into the central part of the Basin to Defiance* taking it apart at St. Marys on account of poor road and shipping it by boat via the River St. Mary to the Maumee at Fort Wayne. The oxen and horses were driven by land along the Auglaise military road laden with part of his goods.

These were years of scarcity of money. The gatherings from the forest that could be exchanged as yet were mainly skins of wild animals which, with the little produce that could be spared from the clearings, comprised most of the medium of exchange. The incoming settlers brought a little money, mostly in bills of banks in the larger towns of Ohio, of nineteen of which banks for a short time seven were called good, and those of the other twelve were rated as decent, middling, and good-for-nothing; and their condition was liable to change to worse any day. A few coins were also in circulation, but many of them were clipped and were rated by their weight by the receiving merchants.†

In the year 1820 the Village of Defiance contained three stores and about one hundred people of the Aryan race; and in 1830 Defiance Township contained a population of 307. The Village of Defiance was platted in November, 1822, by Benjamin Leavell of Piqua and Horatio G. Phillips of Dayton, the proprietors. The plat was acknowledged before Charles Gunn Justice of the Peace April 18, 1823, and the same date it was received for record by Thomas R.

* The first spring carriage to pass through this Basin was probably the one in 1815 in which General Lewis Cass, then Governor of Michigan Territory, transported his family from Ohio to Detroit. It is not known to the writer whether they passed along General Hull's road or along the military road down the left bank of the Auglaise River.

† Compare the Detroit Gazette newspaper of October 22, 1819.

There she died November 7, 1890, and he passed away February 16, 1894, honored and respected by all who knew them.

Our subject, who is the only child of this worthy couple, was born in Tiffin township, November 19, 1856, and upon the home farm passed the days of his boyhood and youth, obtaining his education in the local schools. He remained under the parental roof until he was married, in Hicksville, Defiance county, October 12, 1882, to Miss Emma Lehman. She was born in Noble township, same county, December 8, 1854, a daughter of Christian Lehman, a native of Germany, whence he came to the New World in 1830. In this country he married Catherine Bahr, who was also born in Germany, and emigrated to America in 1835. They continued residents of Defiance county until called from this life, Mrs. Lehman dying in Noble township, March 26, 1882, and her husband in Hicksville, June 30, 1891. In their family were twelve children, Mrs. Partee being tenth in the order of birth. She was a teacher, and taught school nine terms. Our subject and his wife have become the parents of two children: Verna U., born May 1, 1890, died May 10, 1890; and Elma F., born November 7, 1892.

Soon after his marriage, Mr. Partee located upon the farm in Tiffin township, where he still continues to live. It is one of the most desirable places in the community, comprising two hundred and eighty-one acres of valuable land, which he had improved and placed under excellent cultivation. His beautiful home is surrounded with good barns and outbuildings, and the neat and thrifty appearance of the place well indicates the industry, perseverance and progressive spirit of the owner. In connection with farming, Mr. Partee successfully engaged in teaching school for seven winters. For three years he held the office of township clerk, and has always taken a commendable interest in local affairs. Socially, he affiliates with the Independent Order of Odd Fellows; in religious faith, both he and his wife are active and prominent members of the Methodist Episcopal Church; in politics he gives his influence to the Populist party.

JACOB F. GARMAN.

In the respect that is accorded to men who have fought their way to success through unfavorable environments, we find an unconscious recognition of the intrinsic worth of a character which can not only endure so rough a test, but gain new strength through the discipline. The following history sets forth briefly the steps by which our subject, now one of the substantial agriculturists of Defiance county, residing in Section 10, Defiance township, overcame the disadvantages of his early life.

Dear Allens,

Was delighted to receive your letter. My brother has rheumatoid arthritis and is eighty-five years old and he didn't get all the information so that I could call or write to you.

I am inclosing a family sheet on Reuben and Sarah. If you can fill in further information on Jerimiah, I would be appreciative.

I have written to the Jackson County Genealogical Society for information and hope that will yield some positive help. Since nearly every county in OH has a society perhaps by writing to the East Cuyahoga Co. Gen. Soc., P.O. Box 24182, Lyndhurst, OH 44124-0182. They might be of help with information on your grandmother Elizabeth. Most libraries in Ohio will photocopy whatever information can be found in the County Histories of the period around 1882.

Yes, I am trying to find Sarah's ancestry. Census index says she was born in VA. and I have found a Thomas Jones, will made in Albemarle, VA Will Book 4, pg. 31 dated 13 Mar. 1799, probated Sept. Court same year. He has wife Agnes and among his other children, Sarah Jones. A check on other records such as settlement of his estate might reveal further info. What I have recorded is indeed confusing because I have indicated that he died in OH, Jackson County.

I would be glad to provide family sheets on colateral lines of or Jeremiah's siblings if you are interested but do not want to burden you with all this if you are only interested in direct line information. As for myself I am collecting what I can find on all the family beginning with my generation going back hoping to fing the immigrant ancestor.

I will let you know what I hear from the Jackson Co. Society.

Looking forward to hearing from you again, I am

Sincerely,

Dear Second Cousin Roena,

Thank you so much for answering my letter so promptly. It seems that we are second cousins. I am at the same place down the line from Jeremiah Brown as you are from Nancy Brown Partee!

You asked for more information on Jeremiah. Well, first of all, he was not a doctor, but he had a brother who was. That may have been Nathan. The story we were told by my mother who was Olive Brown, daughter of Jeremiah and Elizabeth Brumbaugh Hammond Brown was that Jeremiah fought for the North in the Civil War. He went in as a drummer boy. His brother fought for the South. They did not speak to each other. Some years later, Jeremiah moved to Detroit, Michigan and married Elizabeth either there or in Ohio. At any rate, they had two daughters who were born in Detroit - Goldie around 1890, and Olive on Oct. 30, 1892. While the family was living there, their neighbors had a doctor who made house calls. The neighbor said to her husband, "Doesn't Dr. Brown look a lot like Mr. Brown next door?" However, nothing was said to my grandparents and then Jeremiah died of sunstroke Aug. 22, 1909 in Detroit. Later it was learned that Dr. Brown was my grandfather's brother.

Also in your letter you mentioned Thomas Jones whose will was probated in 1799. What connection do you think that might be - possibly Sarah Jones' grandfather? Since she was born in 1802, could the Sarah Jones of their family have been the aunt of our Sarah Jones? Perhaps looking at the sons mentioned in the will might lead to the father of Sarah Jones Brown. Could you send me a copy of the will? Also, my son, Scott, is very interested in the family sheets you have on colateral lines of Jeremiah's siblings.

Enclosed is a sketch of my ancestry to Nathan Brown, although more proof needs to be found of the link between Reuben and Nathan. Is there anything I can do to help you on this?

Sincerely,

Joan

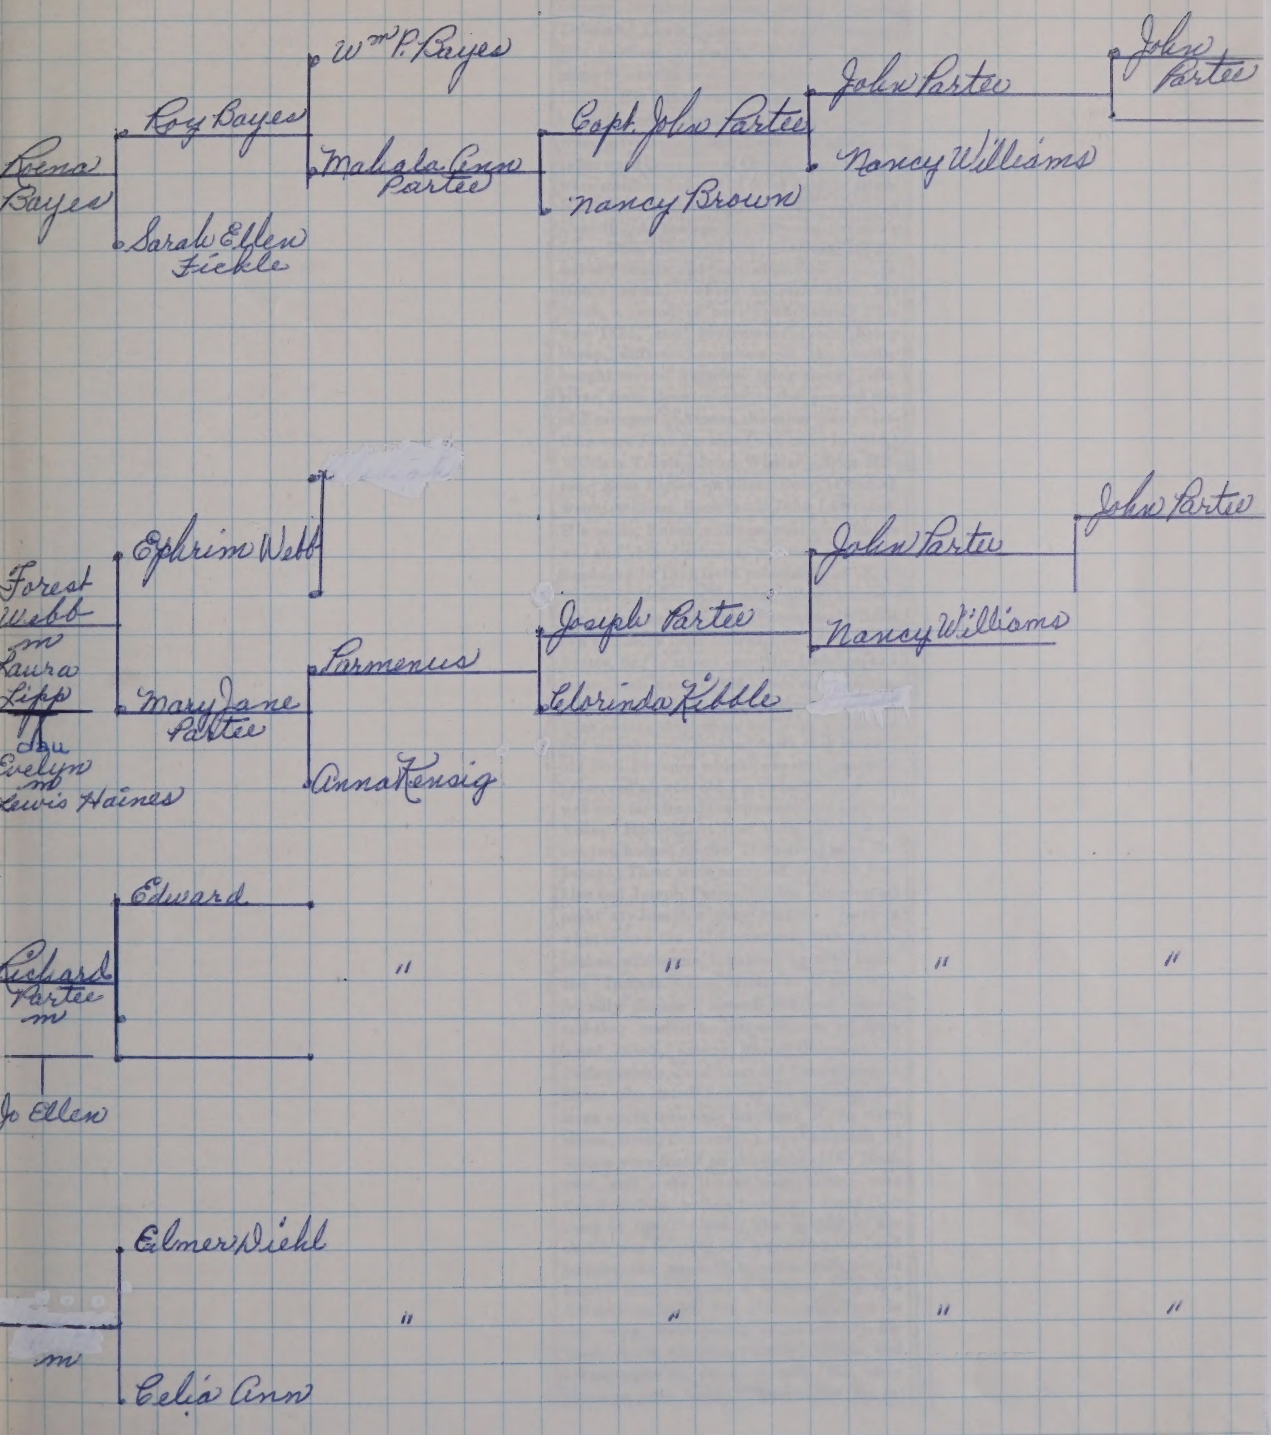
Partee - John's Line



In Memoriam.

Capt. John Partee, son of John and Nancy Partee, was born near Adelphi, Ross county, Ohio, May 15th, 1812, and died at his residence near Brunersburg, March 19th, 1886, aged 73 years, 10 months and 4 days. He was the youngest child and last survivor of a family of ten children. The older were George, Elizabeth, James, Joseph, Enoch, Deborah, Lewis, Lawrence, and Hannah. His brothers James, Joseph and Enoch came to what is now Brunersburg, 1817, to 1822. His father was a teamster in the war of 1812, and his brothers James and Joseph were privates in Capt. Duncan McArthur's (afterward Governor of Ohio) company and were stationed at the ill fated field of River Raisin at the time of Hull's surrender of Detroit. At the age of 19 years he came from Ross county with the rest of his father's family and settled on the farm in Noble township where he resided till his death, a period of nearly 62 years. This was 1824, and government lands being cheap, different members of the family bought several fractions lying along Tiffin river, from Brunersburg to the present site of Evansport. Among the other early settlers were John Perkins (who came in 1816,) William Travis, John Wissler, Brice Hilton, Enos Partee, William Doty, Obadiah Webb, William Buck and John Lawrence. His uncle, Enoch Williams was also in the war and his discharge, written at Lower Sandusky in 1814 is in possession of T. P. Partee of Defiance. Among other interesting papers handed down from early times is a summons from Sheriff Preston to John Partee, Sr., to attend court in Defiance as a juror, and dated 1826, also a deposition filed by him in 1804. In their route from Ross county they came by way of Sidney and Wapakoneta, thence down the river to old Fort Defiance which was still partially preserved as was old Fort Winchester which was not far from the present site of the Russell House. At that time there were but two houses on the Tiffin river near Defiance. These were occupied by John Perkins and Joseph Partee. After stopping all night at Joseph's they cut their way to what is now the old homestead, then an unbroken wilderness, inhabited by wild beasts and Indians. The latter were generally friendly disposed toward the new comers, and they made the acquaintance of some noted chiefs, among them Occonoxee, a Pottawatomie, and an old man named Shane who stated he was born under the large apple tree near the bank of the river across from Defiance. Large numbers of bullets were found on the banks of the Maumee, and sometimes brass kettles were found hid in hollow trees, no doubt left there by the Indians. The subject of our sketch was in early life a great hunter and trapper, and even if memoranda were at hand it would require a volume to give a full account of his life, of his privations in the early development of the country, his hardships in subduing the wilderness, and his struggles in company with the early pioneers. He loved to range the woods, lost account of his life, of his privations in the early development of the country, his hardships in subduing the wilderness, and his struggles in company with the early pioneers. He loved to range the woods, where Nature had erected her throne, and in the last years of his life, when age had enfeebled his once athletic frame, he was as skilled with the rifle as most young men of his day. Of the history of his ancestors but little is known with certainty. Those on his mother's side were from Holland and on his father's natives of France. No family record was made and the date and place of birth of his parents were unknown, nor was the ages of most of his brothers and sisters correctly known.

About 1841 he was appointed Captain of a company of Ohio militia and rose to the rank of Major, and again in 1861, he was elected captain of a company of Home Guards.

Oct. 10th, 1839 he was married to Miss Nancy Brown who survives him. To them were born 7 children 5 of whom are living. Alvaro the eldest was killed in the war of the rebellion and Reuben B. died in infancy. About 1840 his parents removed to near Pulaski, Ohio, where his mother soon after died, his father then returned and died at the residence of his son, in 1846, aged about 81 years. At the time of his death, Father Partee had been a member of the Methodist Episcopal church, for a period of more than a third of a century, having united with that branch in 1852, during which time had held many important official positions in the church, and while in him it could sometimes be seen that it was human to err, yet those who knew him best always recognized in him the ever obliging neighbor, the honest and upright citizen, a true and affectionate husband, and the kind and indulgent father. For two years last past he had been a patient sufferer, partly from a slight attack of paralysis, and in part from injuries received by the kick of a horse. The cause of his death was dropsy of the heart, consequent from injuries received last July, at which time he was seriously injured internally by being run over by a drunken and reckless driver. During his last suffering he was patient and resigned, and conscious almost to his last moments, and rejoicing in the christian's hope and promise that beyond the dark cloud of suffering there was a happier world above. Appropriate services were held Sunday, March 21st, at Rural chapel, conducted by Rev. S. w. Scott, after which the remains were quietly interred in the family lot in the webb Run cemetery, on the pleasant banks of the river over whose surface he loved to glide more than three score years ago, and the music of whose rushing waters shall be his requiem as from a deserted hreside there runs back tender memories to a grave of buried love.

From the 26 Sept. 1844 Defiance OH Democrat newspaper.

PARTEE.—Nancy Partee (nee Brown) was born in Jackson County, Ohio, and died August 21, 1902, aged 81 years, 3 months, and 9 days. In her youth she moved with her parents to Defiance County, Ohio, locating at what is now known as the Infirmary Farm. She was married to John Partee, October 10, 1839, who some years ago preceded her to the glory land. She was converted in childhood, and ever lived the life of a Christian. She was 'a woman of remarkable faith, and ever expressed implicit confidence in God. Death came peacefully, and with the words, "I shall be satisfied, when I awake, with thy likeness," upon her lips she went to meet her Savior.

Old Roads and Wolf Scalps

I was quite recently sputnicking around in the courthouse helping catalogue public records. Among the things that came to light is the second road petition, dated 1830. This road was in what was a part of Williams County before 1850.

The point of beginning of the proposed road was "At the 6 mile witness tree. one mile below Cyrus Hunter's," located about 5 miles down the Maumee River from Defiance. The Indiana line was the proposed western terminus. The Bellefontaine Road through Defiance was surveyed in 1831. Both roads were travelled by Indians, French and British long before an improvement was petitioned for.

Cyrus Hunter served as Williams County commissioner in 1829. On Feb. 3, 1831, he purchased the land where the Denmark tavern was located. Hunter undoubtedly built the tavern before the town of Denmark was surveyed. He chose one of the best locations for a hotel on the Bellefontaine Road. It was located near the river, and many of the guests who stopped there were traveling by boat.

Denmark was the first town surveyed within present Williams County. The survey record states the place was surveyed on Dec. 25, 1834, by Miller Arrowsmith, and Payne C. Parker was the owner. No deed was recorded in the land transfer from Hunter to Parker.

Miller Arrowsmith is mentioned in many old records, and there was a town named "Arrowsmith" in Defiance County. The Arrowsmiths were members of the Scottish clan "McGregor."

Payne C. Parker at one time held the office of judge and applied for (and was granted) a tavern license in Defiance in April 1833.

There are many applications for tavern licenses and a few for ferry boats. There are also about 400 legal notices in the old records concerning stray horses and cattle. At one time, a few fields were fenced and cultivated, and cattle were turned loose on the public land.

Anyone who harbored stray cattle or horses was supposed to go to the courthouse and have a description of the same recorded. A man near Pulaski worked a stray horse for quite some time before having its description recorded. When the sheriff did not arrest the horse borrower, the Methodist church decided something should be done. After due deliberation at a church trial-by-jury, the horse catcher was kicked out of the congregation for conduct unbecoming of a Methodist.

From the old records, it is easier to determine where people were located (even after 150 years) than it is to tell in which place they are now, but I hope for the best. It is also far easier to bring to light the meanderings of old-timers than it is to keep track of some people now living -- myself included.

While rooting around amongst the old records, we became fully aware of the fact the old-timers got things done. The extermination of wolves was no before-breakfast job. There is a stack of about 400 sworn statements among the records dated from 1825 to 1852 which are worded as follows: "State of Ohio, County of Williams. I do solemnly swear, in the presence of God, that the scalp here now produced by me is the scalp of a wolf taken within the County of Williams within twenty days just passed and sincerely believe the same to be over the age of six months, and that I have not spared the life of any she wolf within my power to kill, with the design to increase the breed."

Wolf bounty affadavit signed by early Williams County settler James T. Guthrie -- from the Williams County Historical Society Museum in Montpelier.

One affidavit is dated Feb. 21, 1835 and signed "John Partee (X)," his mark. "Sworn to and subscribed before me. John Evans, Clerk."

In February 1826, James Cavanaugh and Dennison Hughes turned in wolf scalps to collect the bounty money. Joseph Bates collected enough bounty money to buy a farm. Many sworn statements were for several scalps. It is very likely that bounty money was collected on at least 1,000 wolves.

The wording of the sworn statements is interesting. The statements note that the scalps brought in were those of wolves. If tradition can be relied on, the scalps of grey foxes and dogs were sometimes brought to the county clerk to collect wolf bounties.

The wolf hunters always stated the wolf was over six months of age. No man could tell the age of a wolf; some were small for their age. The pups in a wolf den were usually considered six months old. Since there were as many as ten wolf pups in a litter, there was considerable money involved.

In some of the sworn statements the words "in the presence of God" were omitted because the wolf hunters did not care to take such a solemn oath. All of them were required to state "I have not spared the life of any she wolf with the design to increase the breed." Some wolf hunters swore to a false statement and spared the lives of all female wolf pups "with the design to increase the breed," making scalp hunting more profitable for the hunters who told the truth. This is the only circumstance I know of in which two wrongs made a right.

Capt. John Partee, son of John and Nancy Partee, was born near Adelphi, Ross county, Ohio, May 15th, 1812, and died at his residence near Brunersburg, March 19th, 1886, aged 73 years, 10 months and 4 days. He was the youngest child and last survivor of a family of ten children. The older were George, Elizabeth, James, Joseph, Enoch, Deborah, Lewis, Lawrence and Hannah. His brothers James, Joseph and Enoch came to what is now Brunersburg, 1817 to 1822. His father was a teamster in the war of 1812, and his brothers James and Joseph were privates in Capt. Duncan McArthur's (afterward Governor of Ohio) company and were stationed at the ill fated field of River Raisin at the time of Hull's surrender of Detroit. At the age of 12 years he came from Ross county with the rest of his father's family and settled on the farm in Noble township where he resided till his death, a period of nearly 62 years. This was 1824, and government lands being cheap, different members of the family bought several fractions lying along Tiffin river, from Brunersburg to the present site of Evansport. Among the other early settlers were John Perkins (who came in 1816,) William Travis, John Wissler, Brice Hilton, Enos Partee, william Doty, Obadiah webb, william Buck and John Lawrence. His uncle, Enoch williams was also in the war and his discharge, written at Lower Sandusky in 1814 is in possession of J. P. Partee of Defiance. Among other interesting papers handed down from early times is a summons from Sheriff Preston to John Partee, Sr., to attend court in Defiance as a juror, and dated 1826, also a deposition filed by him in 1804. In their route from Ross county they came by way of Sidney and wapakoneta, thence down the river to old Fort Defiance which was still partially preserved as was old Fort winchester which was not far from the present site of the Russell House. At that time there were but two houses on the Tiffin river near Defiance. These were occupied by John Perkins and Joseph Partee. After stopping all night at Joseph's they cut their way to what is now the old homestead, then an unbroken wilderness, inhabited by wild beasts and Indians. The latter were generally friendly disposed toward the new comers, and they made the acquaintance of some noted chiefs, among them Occonoxee, a Pottawatomie, and an old man named Shane who stated he was born under the large apple tree near the bank of the river across from Defiance. Large numbers of bullets were found on the banks of the Maumee, and some times brass kettles were found hid in hollow trees, no doubt left there by the Indians. The subject of our sketch was in early life a great hunter and trapper, and even if memoranda were at hand it would require a volume to give a full account of his life, of his privations in the early development of the country, his hardships in subduing the wilderness, and his struggles in company with the early pioneers. He loved to range the woods, where Nature had erected her throne, and in the last years of his life, when age had enfeebled his once athletic frame, he was as skilled with the rifle as most young men of his day. Of the history of his ancestors but little is known with certainty. Those on his mother's side were from Holland and on his father's natives of France. No family record was made and the date and place of birth of his parents were unknown, nor was the ages of most of his brothers and sisters correctly known.

About 1841 he was appointed Captain of a company of Ohio militia and rose to the rank of Major, and again in 1861 he was elected captain of a company of Home Guards.

Oct. 10th, 1839 he was married to Miss Nancy Brown who survives him. To them were born 7 children 5 of whom are living. Alvaro the eldest was killed in the war of the rebellion and Reuben B. died in infancy. About 1840 his parents removed to near Pulaski, Ohio, where his mother soon after died, his father then returned and died at the residence of his son, in 1840, aged about 81 years. At the time of his death, Father Partee had been a member of the Methodist Episcopal church for a period of more than a third of a century, having united with that branch in 1852, during which time had held many important official positions in the church, and while in him it could sometimes be seen that it was human to err, yet those who knew him best always recognized in him the ever obliging neighbor, the honest and upright citizen, a true and affectionate husband, and the kind and indulgent father. For two years last past he had been a patient sufferer, partly from a slight attack of paralysis, and in part from injuries received by the kick of a horse. The cause of his death was dropsy of the heart, consequent from injuries received last July, at which time he was seriously injured internally by being run over by a drunken and reckless driver. During his last suffering he was patient and resigned, and conscious almost to his last moments, and rejoicing in the christian's hope and promise that beyond the dark cloud of suffering there was a happier world above. Appropriate services were held Sunday, March 21st, at Rural chapel, conducted by Rev. S. w. Scott, after which the remains were quietly interred in the family lot in the webb Run cemetery, on the pleasant banks of the river over whose surface he loved to glide more than three score years ago, and the music of whose rushing waters shall be his requiem as from a deserted fireside there runs back tender memories to a grave of buried love.

John Partee & Nancy Williams
1765 - 1846 ca 17 ? - 1840

(my great great grandparents)

John Partee, Sr. was a resident of Ross County, Ohio in the year of 1812. John and Nancy (Williams) Partee were the parents of ten children:

George
Elizabeth
James
John
Joseph
Enoch
Deborah
Lewis
Lawrence
Hannah

John Partee was a teamster in the War of 1812 and his sons, James and Joseph were Privates in Capt. Duncan Mc Arthur's (afterward Governor of Ohio) Company and was stationed at the ill fated field of River Raisin at the time of Hull's surrender at Detroit.

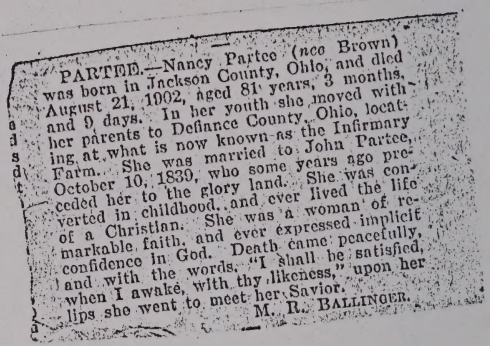
John and Nancy along with their family left Ross County and removed to Defiance County. Their route was by way of Sidney and Wapakoneta thence down the river to old Fort Defiance which was still partially preserved.

John and Nancy removed to near Pulaski about 1840. Time grew short, Nancy died in 1840 and soon after John returned to the home of his youngest son, Capt. John, and died there in 1846. He was buried in the old Webb Cemetery now known as Tiffin-Noble Township Cemetery.

Among interesting papers handed down (and in the possession of J.P. Partee) in the early 1800's was a summons from Sheriff Preston to John Partee to attend court in Defiance as a juror and also a deposition filed by him in 1804.

In 1824 Government lands being cheap, members of the family bought several fractions of land lying along the Tiffin River from Brunersburg to the present site of Evansport.

Among the other eartly settlers were John Perkins who came in 1816, John Whissler, Obediah Webb and John Lawrence. Children of these families intermarried with the Partee family.



PARTEE.—Nancy Partee (nee Brown) was born in Jackson County, Ohio, and died August 21, 1902, aged 81 years, 3 months, and 9 days. In her youth she moved with her parents to Defiance County, Ohio, locating at what is now known as the Infirmary Farm. She was married to John Partee, October 10, 1839, who some years ago preceded her to the glory land. She was converted in childhood, and ever lived the life of a Christian. Capt. John Partee & Nancy Brown
1812 - 1886 1821 - 1902

(my great grandparents)

John was the youngest and the last survivor of a family of ten born to John and Nancy (Williams) Partee. He was born on the 15th of May 1812 near Adelphi, Ross County, Ohio. At the age of 12 in the year 1824 he came with his parents and other members of the family and settled on the farm in Noble Township where he resided till his death. Upon leaving Ross County the family traveled in a northwesterly direction to Sidney, then on to Wapakoneta. From there they went down the Auglaize River to Old Fort Defiance. Then proceeding along the Tiffin River they finally came to Joseph Partee's house. After spending the night at Joseph's they cut their way to what became the old homestead. It was an unbroken wilderness inhabited by wild beasts and Indians. The Indians were generally friendly and they came to know Chief Occonoxee, a Potawatamie and Shane who stated he was born under the large apple tree near the bank of the river across from Defiance.

Young John loved the river and the forest. One of his adventures is still told how one evening he went out hunting and climbed an old dead tree to watch a deer lick. He settled himself in the branches, gun in hand, when suddenly the old dead tree gave way at the ground and great grandfather went splashing into the river below.

At that time there were but two houses on the Tiffin River near Defiance. John Perkins lived in one and Joseph Partee in the other. As John grew older he became a great hunter and trapper. Some of the one hundred and sixty acres were cleared for farming and the once large pioneer family became smaller as his older brothers and sisters began their own families.

In 1833 Reuben Brown and his wife Sarah (Jones) with their family came from Jackson County, Ohio and settled near by. On October 10th 1839 John married their daughter, Nancy. There were seven children born to this union.

Subject: Cpl. Alvero Partee

Hello Roena,

First, I want to tell you how much I enjoyed being with you yesterday. Wish we could have made more progress on those items, though.

Second, I talked to Brad tonight about your ancestor. He has so many records and reference materials, so I knew he would have what you need.

Cpl. Alvero Partee was listed as J.A. Partee in the roster. Everything else matches, so we're assuming he might have used his first initital at enlistment. The 14th O.V.I. fought in the area of Lafayette Road or Battleline Road at Chickamauga. They were part of the 14th Corp under General Thomas, 3rd Division, 2nd Brigade. At Chickamauga, there is a monument with an acorn on it to the 14th O.V.I. and it is next to the 14th U.S. Brad thinks he probably died at a hospital around Marietta, Georgia because he is buried at the Marietta National Military Cemetery. The burial contractor was accurate in his recording of soldiers and graves. Brad will be going there in the near future to take some photographs of your ancestor's grave and we'll get those to you. The mention in the Adjutant General's record of his dying in a rebel prison may be in error.
Do you have his military records from the National Archives? Brad wanted to know if you do and what they say about Alvero's service record. Let me know, if you will.

He also wanted to know about your Grandfather Fickle (?). I believe you told me he was in an Ohio cavalry unit. What information do you have on him?

Brad, his wife, and another member of the 21st Ohio Volunteer Veteran Infantry re-enactment unit presented Vice-President Chaney with Keith Rocco's print of the Ohio 21st at Chickamauga two weeks ago in the White House. Chaney's grandfather was in the 21st. What an experience he had. I guess Chaney was like a little kid when he received the print, saw the unit's regimental colors, and all that Brad had researched on the original unit. They were all on Cloud Nine.

Thought you would want to know what I found out, and I couldn't wait until tomorrow to write to you. So let me know what other information you have on
Cpl. Partee and that of your Grandfather Fickle. Hope I spelled that correctly.

Subject: Cpl. Alvero Partee

Hello Roena,

First, I want to tell you how much I enjoyed being with you yesterday. Wish we could have made more progress on those items, though.

Second, I talked to Brad tonight about your ancestor. He has so many records and reference materials, so I knew he would have what you need.

Cpl. Alvero Partee was listed as J.A. Partee in the roster. Everything else matches, so we're assuming he might have used his first initital at enlistment. The 14th O.V.I. fought in the area of Lafayette Road or Battleline Road at Chickamauga. They were part of the 14th Corp under General Thomas, 3rd Division, 2nd Brigade. At Chickamauga, there is a monument with an acorn on it to the 14th O.V.I. and it is next to the 14th U.S. Brad thinks he probably died at a hospital around Marietta, Georgia because he is buried at the Marietta National Military Cemetery. The burial contractor was accurate in his recording of soldiers and graves. Brad will be going there in the near future to take some photographs of your ancestor's grave and we'll get those to you. The mention in the Adjutant General's record of his dying in a rebel prison may be in error.
Do you have his military records from the National Archives? Brad wanted to know if you do and what they say about Alvero's service record. Let me know, if you will.

He also wanted to know about your Grandfather Fickle (?). I believe you told me he was in an Ohio cavalry unit. What information do you have on him?

Brad, his wife, and another member of the 21st Ohio Volunteer Veteran Infantry re-enactment unit presented Vice-President Chaney with Keith Rocco's print of the Ohio 21st at Chickamauga two weeks ago in the White House. Chaney's grandfather was in the 21st. What an experience he had. I guess Chaney was like a little kid when he received the print, saw the unit's regimental colors, and all that Brad had researched on the original unit. They were all on Cloud Nine.

Thought you would want to know what I found out, and I couldn't wait until tomorrow to write to you. So let me know what other information you have on
Cpl. Partee and that of your Grandfather Fickle. Hope I spelled that correctly.

Take care, my dear Buckeye,

Love,

Linda lamurr@shentel.net

19 Dec. 1924

At 9:15 Friday morning, December 19, Mrs. Mahala Bayes a long time resident of Farmer township, and a lifetime resident of Defiance county, passed away after a long illness, covering the greater part of seven years. Her husband, William Bayes died in the winter of 1918, during one of the worst snow storms of that stormy year, and his body had to be borne to its last resting place in sleds. A strang coincidence that her soul should finally take its departure in the storm of ice and sleet, nearly seven years later. At this time all service was cut off and the doctor had to be gone after as in the pre-phone days, also the undertaker. Mrs. Bayes was 78 years old last September, and leaves to mourn her loss, a son Roy and wife, a daughter Florence and husband who lived with her and cared for her, three grandsons, Hollis, Albert Bayes and Bobbie Buda, and one sister, Mrs. Clara Wisler of Defiance who was with her at the end, as she had been through many hard spells before. Mrs. Wisler is the last of the Partee family, into which they were born, over in Tiffin township, and the youngest member. The funeral service for Mrs. Bayes will probably be held in the Union church some time on Monday. Because of the storm and crippled phone service information which is really authentic has been hard to secure.

Apropos of the storm, Farmer town and township has been hit as hard as other localities this time, the yard and orchard of W. S. Yeagley, east of town being practically covered with fallen branches, and all their fine fruit trees are destroyed so far as next year's crop is concerned and some of them forever. The maples in the front and side yard will never again be quite the things of beauty they have been for many years. Other places show ravage of the storm, but to a lesser degree, and poles and wires are down all around town. It was reported that the mile east of town was the only one between Bryan and Farmer, via Ney, which did not have poles down yesterday forenoon. If any one has been regretting the "good old times" let him rejoice in these lightless nights, and phoneless days to the depths of his heart, and incidentally may they never come again within the next hundred years. To many of the younger generation they are actually a new experience.

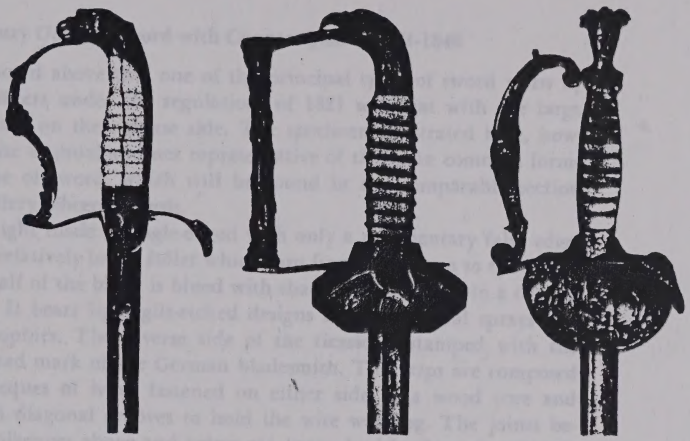
67. Infantry Officers' Sword with Langets, 1821-1832

The sword illustrated herewith represents one of the more popular types which complied with the regulations of 1821. It is believed that it was superseded in 1832 by the type with the large counter-guard, but undoubtedly some of these swords continued to be used even after the standard models of 1840, especially by militia officers.



67 68 69

The straight slender blade is single-edged with a false edge extending back approximately 13 inches from the point. A relatively broad fuller runs from the ricasso to the beginning of the false edge. The first third of the blade is blued, ending in a decorative scroll. It is decorated on both sides with gilt etchings of floral designs, plus one cannon on the obverse side. The grips are ivory. There is a ferrule at the blade end of the grips ornamented with oak leaves and dots. A convex backstrap surmounts the grips and expands into the eagle head pommel, which is cast realistically with most of the head below the level of the blade. Thus the rivet of the tang comes at the base of the eagle's skull. The knuckle-bow is attached to the underside of the beak. It is of the reverse P pattern and is decorated with floral scrolls and a rosette in high relief. There are shield shaped langets on the quillon; the obverse decorated with a classical helmet and sword similar to the present West Point coat of arms, and the reverse langet decorated with a shell design. The quillon terminates above the blade in an eagle's head. All metal parts of the hilt are brass plated with silver. The scabbard also is silver plated. It bears a stud on the obverse side near the throat for attachment to a frog and also two carrying rings. The stud is decorated with floral designs. There is no drag, but the scabbard terminates in a decorative finial.

36½ inches overall, blade 31¾ inches by ¾ inch wide at the hilt.

68. Infantry Officers' Sword with Counter-guard, 1821-1840

It was noted above that one of the principal types of sword worn by infantry officers under the regulations of 1821 was that with the large counter-guard on the obverse side. The specimen illustrated here, however, is quite unusual and not representative of the more common forms of this type of sword, which will be found in the comparable section under artillery officers' swords.

The straight blade is single-edged with only a rudimentary false edge. There is a relatively broad fuller which runs from the ricasso to the point. The first half of the blade is blued with that portion ending in a decorative scroll. It bears light gilt-etched designs including floral sprays and military trophies. The reverse side of the ricasso is stamped with the crowned head mark of the German bladesmith. The grips are composed of two placques of ivory fastened on either side of a wood core and carved with diagonal grooves to hold the wire winding. The joints between the placques above and below are covered with silver-plated brass strips. There is a ferrule at the base of the grips decorated with an embossed design of leaves, and the pommel is cast in the form of an eagle's head. The knuckle-bow is most unusual. It consists of a fluted column with base and capital, flat on the reverse side and round on the obverse side. This is attached to the pommel by a floral wreath which joins it at a right angle while the base rests upon a straight quillon. There is an octagonal counter-guard on the obverse side with an American eagle and shield in relief on its outer surface. The upper quillon is missing. All metal parts of the hilt are brass with some traces of the original silver plating still visible. The scabbard is missing.

Collection of the United States National Museum

35 inches overall, blade 30 inches by ⅞ inch wide at the hilt.

69. Infantry Officers' Sword with Counter-guard and Indian Head Pommel, 1821-1850

One of the interesting variations of the infantry officers' sword with the large counter-guard which was worn under the regulations of 1821

PARTEE HISTORICAL SKETCH

The early history of the Partee family, as near as can be obtained, by historical matter and from the older members of the family, who were the early settlers, of what is now Defiance County, Ohio, traces their lineage back to the middle of the eighteenth century, and in the wilderness of Kentucky, here it was that John Partee, a Frenchman, not far from the year 1760 cast his lot with the hardy pioneers of that period and became the progenitor of the many Partee families who for the past one hundred years have been located throughout Ohio and in later years more especially in the N. W. portion of the State. Among the children of this ancient ancestor were two sons George and John Partee. The latter in the later years of his life known as John Partee, Sr. The brother George was born in Kentucky near the Blue Licks, a place which afterwards became historical, as a battlefield where the savages defeated the Americans in a bloody contest in Oct. 1780. George Partee joined the army of General Wayne and was under the command of that heroic American when he built Fort Defiance, and took a gallant part in the battle that was fought a few weeks later, which resulted in the defeat of the Indians and the final peace treaty of Greenville in 1795. In the life of James B.Findlay written by himself and an early pioneer writer, we find the following: - "Speaking of Wayne's victory, and in regard to some of the leading officers, being wounded he adds, G. Partee was also wounded in the thigh, but like his brother officers he fought on, until the battle was over and the victory achieved." The second wife of George Partee was Rachel Hague, and of their seven children, Enos Partee, a well known pioneer of Tiffin Township, was the oldest. He was born in Virginia June 2ndd 1794, came to Highland County, Ohio with his fathers family at a date not now known, married to Phoebe Dunkin in 1816, died at the old home in Tiffin Township in April 1875, having located there in 1827.

Hester Ann Partee was born June 2nd 1817, the oldest son George was born April 5th, 1819 married Anna K. Gurwell, Nov. 30, 1841. Of their ten children Phoebe, wife of William Staley died Mar. 12, 1879, Mrs. Elizabeth Hannah, Mrs. Louis Carter, John, Mrs. Geroge Keller, Jacob and Frank. William Partee born January 23rd 1821, married to Sarah Wissler, in 1852, died 1894, Sarah Partee _____ 1892, their only son Elmar, wife and daughter live on the old farm. James born in 1823, Milton born in 1825, Lavina born in 1827, Phoebe Partee Anson born in 1829, died in 1898, John E. Partee born in 1831 married to Sarah Engle in 1852, Mrs Partee died in 1878, Sarah Partee Winans born in 1833. William Rath was born in Cumberland County, PA.; in 1826, came to Defiance in 1846 was married to Lavina Partee, the first white child born in Tiffin Township, in 1851. Mr. Rath died in 1870, he afterwards married Mrs. Caroline Hockman, they and their children, ex-sheriff W. I. Rath, George A., John H., James, Mrs Joseph Fidler, Mrs. H. F. Toberan live in Defiance. Henry born April 13, 1819, in Jackson County, Ohio came with his parents to Defiance County in 1833, was married to Hester Ann Partee Aug. 28, 1842, of their four children but one C. W. Brown is living. Phoebe and Anne died in 1862. Sarah in 1856, C. W. Brown born Mar. 1844, a member of the 100th Reg't. OVI. during the Civil War, married to Hannah Dieden 1 Apr. 1867, Their only child Carrie was married to Byron Hannah in Feb. 1877, They have four children, Hester Ann Brown died Dec. 10, 1879, and Henry Brown died on the following day. Reuben

Brown, one of the family of thirteen children was born in the state of NY. June 22nd 1799, thus it will be seen that the first six months of his life were spent in the days of Washington, at an early day he moved to Jackson County, Ohio, was married to Sarah Jones in 1813, from early manhood he was a consistent member of the Methodist Church, moved to Defiance County in 1833, and settled on the Infirmary Farm on which we gather today. Well do we remember more than (?46/8) years ago when Grandpa Brown was asked what he would give toward building this beautiful little country church, he replied that he would give the lot and $100.00. He died in June 1875 aged 76years. Sarah, wife of Reuben Brown was born February 21, 1802 and died Feb. 1, 1862 at her home on what is now the Infirmary Farm. Reuben Brown was married to Mrs. Hannah Kintigh Aug 24 18?2, who still survives him at the age of 94. In the family were nine children, aged in the order named, Henry, Nancy, Wesley, Lucinda, Johanna, and Mary, Charles, Nathan and Jerimah. Wesley Brown was married to Eliza Dull Oct. 30, 1845, of their five children, Reuben died in June 1855. John Wesley died in Nov 1887, aged 38 years. Their only child Mattie died in 1899, aged 20 years. Mary, with her husband A. W. Hagart and sister Minerva and brother Alva C. live in Defiance Eliza Brown died Sept. 26, 1887 and Wesley Brown, June 1, 1888. Lucinda Brown was born Sept. 22, 1825 and died Jan. 21, 1849, Johanna Brown was born in 1829 and died Feb.1899, was married to Thomas Reid, Aug. 30, 1849, of their four children living, Mary, was married to Dan E. Partee, March 19, 1874, they have two sons and one daughter married living near Evansport, Ohio. J. W.Reid was married to Grace Langdon in 1877, and with their two sons live in Van Wert, Ohio, Flora Reid married Edd Rodgers, and with their two children live in Decatur, Ill, Frank Reid and wife live in Fort Wayne, Ind. Mary Brown born Feb. 3, (?1832), was married to Andrew McCauley Mar. 14, 1854, Andrew McCauley in 1899, in Ford County KS., where Mrs. McCauley still lives with her three sons, one daughter, Mrs. Gilchrist lives in Terra Haute and Wesley in Akron, Ohio. Nathan Brown was born Sept. 3, 1876, married to Aesah Arnold Sept. 8, 1857. Mrs. Brown died several years ago. Nathan Brown lives in Detroit, Michigan, with his two surviving children, Warren and Grace and their families. Charles Brown was born Jan. 10, 1834, died March 29, 1849. Jerimah was born December 8, 1840, married to Meribah Nier, August 1, (18?). Mrs. Brown died in May , 1890. Mary Brown lives in Detroit, as also does John one of the three surviving children, Samuel is married and living in Perrysburg, Ohio and Horace and wife in Toledo.

Among the early pioneers of Tippacanoe County, Ind. were Simpson and Zephaniah, brothers of Reuben Brown, coming there at an early day, they became instrumental in the early development of the County and it's capitol city, and became most prominent citizens, both died many years ago. Today their descendants, the Browns and Wiggins and others are numerous in Tippacanoe County.

John Partee Sr., brother of George the soldier under Wayne was born in Ky about the year 1765, married Nancy Williams, himself and two sons, James and Joseph were soldiers in the 2nd War with England and were with Gen. Hull at the disgraceful surrender of Detroit, one of the foulest blots in American history, moved with his family to Ross County, Ohio at an early date, again moved to Defiance in 1824 and settled on a farm adjoining the County Infirmary, where he died in 1846. Grandma Partee died in 1844, the exact date on neither is known. At the time they settled on the land the Indians were encamped on the place, but silently moved away on the day following, of the family were ten children, George and one sister unmarried. Elizabeth married to John Lawrence, James to Miss Perkins, of their living children are Mrs. Nancy Wissler and Mrs. Rosenthal of Williams County who is a daughter of his second wife, and who was a sister of Thomas Reid, James Partee died in 1869, he was a pioneer of the Maumee Valley in 1817, Joseph Partee was married to Clarinda Kibble, of him it can truly be said that his descendants out number those of any of the brothers, one son, Orlando Partee, deceased, married Susannah McCauley another Parmenous Married a Kinsig, together they have 16 children married, among the other grandchildren are Jacob and William of Defiance, and Joseph of Tiffin, Ohio, and sister Clarinda of Toledo, Enoch Partee married Rebecca Swinehart, parents of Daniel E. and James A. Partee, Mrs. Lavina Feid of Illinois, Lewis Partee married a Miss Webb, parents of Mrs. David Miller and A.Gitchie and Mrs. Geo. Benner and O. W. Partee of Defiance and Lewis of the State of Washington, Lawrence Partee also married a Miss Webb, of their children are Geo. and Joseph of Defiance, and O. W. Partee of Tiffin Township. Hannah Partee married Abraham Webb, parents of Mr. Fred Speaker of Noble Township, John Partee , the youngest of the family of ten children was born in Colerain Township, near Adelphi, Ross County, Ohio May 15, 1812, came to what is now Defiance, County with his parents when 12 yers of age, a large portion of the succeeding years of his life were spent in hunting the wild game that abounded in the surrounding wilderness. Often when a little boy I have listened to his storied of adventure, especially remember one in which he climbed a tall dead tree, which overhung the deep waters of the Tiffin River to watch a deer lick, as he seated himself in the branches, gun in hand, in the darkness of the night, the tree suddenly broke off at the ground, the result can easily be imagined. Old Fort Defiance was partially preserved at the time of their coming, and from what is now Brunersburg, not even a trace was cut through the woods., to the place of settlement. In the latter part of the forties he was elected Captain of the Ohio State Militia and rose to the rank of Major. Father Partee lived on the old farm the remainder of his life, whereas a man of upright Christian character his life was an open book.

The circumstances causing his death were those of peculiar sadness. On July 11, 1885 while returning from the city, riding in his buggy, he was run down by a drunken man and received injuries from which he never fully recovered. Taken home he hovered between life and death for some weeks but at last partially recovered and went about his daily duties, but in the following winter the internal injuries caused him to gradually decline, resulting in his death on the 19th of March, 1886, aged nearly 74 years. A member of the M.E. Church for 35 years. Nancy Brown 2nd child of Reuben and Sarah Brown was born in Jackson County, Ohio, May 12th 1821, removed with her fathers family to this farm in 1833, was married to John Partee Oct. 1, 1839. Mother Partee though bowing under the weight of four score years is still hearty and vigorous having attained an age greater than any member of the family. There are witnesses living today who knew her at the age of 19 years to stand in a half bushel and shoulder two bushel of wheat. Of their family of seven children Alvero born in 1840 was killed in the battle of Chickamagua during the Civil War in 1863. Reuben an infant son died in 1844. Sirena born in 1845 , lost account of his life, of his privations in the early development of the country, his hardships in subduing the wilderness, and his struggles in company with the early pioneers. He loved to range the woods, where Nature had erected her throne, and in the last years of his life, when age had enfeebled his once athletic frame, he was as skilled with the rifle as most young men of his day. Of the history of his ancestors but little is known with certainty. Those on his mother's side were from Holland and on his father's, natives of France. No family record was made and the date and place of birth of his parents were unknown, nor was the ages of most of his brothers and sisters correctly known.

About 1841 he was appointed Captain of a company of Ohio militia and, rose to the rank of Major, and again in 1861, he was elected captain of a company of Home Guards.

Oct. 10th, 1839 he was married to Miss Nancy Brown who survives him. To them were born 7 children 5 of whom are living. Alvaro the eldest was killed in the war of the rebellion and Reuben B. died in infancy. About 1840 his parents removed to near Pulaski, Ohio, where his mother soon after died, his father then returned and died at the residence of his son, in 1848, aged about 81 years. At the time of his death, Father Partee had been a member of the Methodist Episcopal church, for a period of more than a third of a century, having united with that branch in 1852, during which time had held many important official positions in the church, and while in him it could sometimes be seen that it was human to err, yet those who knew him best always recognized in him the ever obliging neighbor, the honest and upright citizen, a true and affectionate husband, and the kind and indulgent father. For two years last past he had been a patient sufferer, partly from a slight attack of paralysis, and in part from injuries received by the kick of a horse. The cause of his death, was dropsy of the heart, consequent from injuries received last July, at which time he was seriously injured internally by being run over by a drunken and reckless driver. During his last suffering he was patient and resigned, and conscious almost to his last moments, and rejoicing in the christian's hope and promise that beyond the dark cloud of suffering there was a happier world above. Appropriate services were held Sunday, March 21st, at Rural chapel, conducted by Rev. S. W. Scott, after which the remains were quietly interred in the family lot in the webb Run cemetery, on the pleasant banks of the river over whose surface he loved to glide more than three score years ago, and the music of whose rushing waters shall be his requiem as from a deserted hreside there runs back tender memories to a grave of buried love.

In Memoriam.

Capt. John Partee, son of John and Nancy Partee, was born near Adelphi, Ross county, Ohio, May 15th, 1812, and died at his residence near Brunersburg, March 19th, 1886, aged 73 years, 10 months and 4 days. He was the youngest child and last survivor of a family of ten children. The older were George, Elizabeth, James, Joseph, Enoch, Deborah, Lewis, Lawrence, and Hannah. His brothers James, Joseph and Enoch came to what is now Brunersburg, 1817, to 1822. His father was a teamster in the war of 1812, and his brothers James and Joseph were privates in Capt. Duncan McArthur's (afterward Governor of Ohio) company and were stationed at the ill fated field of River Raisin at the time of Hull's surrender of Detroit. At the age of 13 years he came from Ross county with the rest of his father's family and settled on the farm in Noble township where he resided till his death, a period of nearly 62 years. This was 1824, and government lands being cheap, different members of the family bought several fractions lying along Tiffin river, from Brunersburg to the present site of Evansport. Among the other early settlers were John Perkins (who came in 1816,) William Travis, John Wissler, Brice Hilton, Enos Partee, William Doty, Obadiah Webb, William Buck and John Lawrence. His uncle, Enoch Williams was also in the war and his discharge, written at Lower Sandusky in 1814 is in possession of J. P. Partee of Defiance. Among other interesting papers handed down from early times is a summons from Sheriff Preston to John Partee, Sr., to attend court in Defiance as a juror, and dated 1826, also a deposition filed by him in 1804. In their route from Ross county they came by way of Sidney and Wapakoneta, thence down the river to old Fort Defiance which was still partially preserved as was old Fort Winchester which was not far from the present site of the Russell House. At that time there were but two houses on the Tiffin river near Defiance. These were occupied by John Perkins and Joseph Partee. After stopping all night at Joseph's they cut their way to what is now the old homestead, then an unbroken wilderness, inhabited by wild beasts and Indians. The latter were generally friendly disposed toward the new comers, and they made the acquaintance of some noted chiefs, among them Occonoxee, a Pottawatomie, and an old man named Shane who stated he was born under the large apple tree near the bank of the river across from Defiance. Large numbers of bullets were found on the banks of the Maumee, and some times brass kettles were found hid in hollow trees, no doubt left there by the Indians. The subject of our sketch was in early life a great hunter and trapper, and even if memoranda were at hand it would require a volume to give a full account of his life, of his privations in the early development of the country, his hardships in subduing the wilderness, and his struggles in company with the early pioneers. He loved to range the woods,

At the age of 12 years he came from Ross county with the rest of his father's family and settled on the farm in Noble township where he resided till his death, a period of nearly 62 years. This was 1824, and government lands being cheap, different members of the family bought several fractions lying along Tiffin river, from Brunersburg to the present site of Evansport. Among the other early settlers were John Perkins (who came in 1816,) William Travis, John Wissler, Brice Hilton, Enos Partee, William Doty, Obadiah Webb, William Buck and John Lawrence. His uncle, Enoch Williams was also in the war and his discharge, written at Lower Sandusky in 1814 is in possession of J. P. Partee of Defiance. Among other interesting papers handed down from early times is a summons from Sheriff Preston to John Partee, Sr., to attend court in Defiance as a juror, and dated 1826, also a deposition filed by him in 1804. In their route from Ross county they came by way of Sidney and Wapakoneta, thence down the river to old Fort Defiance which was still partially preserved as was old Fort Winchester which was not far from the present site of the Russell House. At that time there were but two houses on the Tiffin river near Defiance. These were occupied by John Perkins and Joseph Partee. After stopping all night at Joseph's they cut their way to what is now the old homestead, then an unbroken wilderness, inhabited by wild beasts and Indians. The latter were generally friendly disposed toward the new comers, and they made the acquaintance of some noted chiefs, among them Occonoxee, a Pottawatomie, and an old man named Shane who stated he was born under the large apple tree near the bank of the river across from Defiance. Large numbers of bullets were found on the banks of the Maumee, and some times brass kettles were found hid in hollow trees, no doubt left there by the Indians. The subject of our sketch was in early life a great hunter and trapper, and even if memoranda were at hand it would require a volume to give a full account of his life, of his privations in the early development ot the country, his hardships in subduing the wilderness, and his struggles in company with the early pioneers. He loved to range the woods, where Nature had erected her throne, and in the last years of his life, when age had enfeebled his once athletic frame, he was as skilled with the rifle as most young men of his day. Of the history of his ancestors but little is known with certainty. Those on his mother's side were from Holland and on his father's natives of France. No family record was made and the date and place of birth of his parents were unknown, nor was the ages of most of his brothers and sisters correctly known.

About 1841 he was appointed Captain of a company of Ohio militia and rose to the rank of Major, and again in 1861 he was elected captain of a company of Home Guards.

Oct. 10th, 1839 he was married to Miss Nancy Brown, who survives him. To them were born 7 children 5 of whom are living. Alvaro the oldest was killed in the war of the rebellion and Reuben B. died in infancy. About 1840 his parents removed to near Pulaski, Ohio, where his mother soon after died, his father then returned and died at the residence of his son, in 1846, aged about 81 years. At the time of his death, Father Partee had been a member of the Methodist Episcopal church for a period of more than a third of a century, having united with that branch in 1852, during which time had held many important official positions in the church, and while in him it could sometimes be seen that it was human to err, yet those who knew him best always recognized in him the ever obliging neighbor, the honest and upright citizen, a true and affectionate husband, and the kind and indulgent father. For two years last past he had been a patient sufferer, partly from a slight attack of paralysis, and in part from injuries received by the kick of a horse. The cause of his death was dropsy of the heart, consequent from injuries received last July, at which time he was seriously injured internally by being run over by a drunken and reckless driver. During his last suffering he was patient and resigned, and conscious almost to his last moments, and rejoicing in the christian's hope and promise that beyond the dark cloud of suffering there was a happier world above. Appropriate services were held Sunday, March 21st, at Rural chapel, conducted by Rev. S. W. Scott, after which the remains were quietly interred in the family lot, in the webb Run cemetery, on the pleasant banks of the river over whose surface he loved to glide more than three score years ago, and the music of whose rushing waters shall be his requiem as from a deserted fireside there runs back tender memories to a grave of buried love.

In Memorium.

Capt. John Partee, son of John and Nancy Partee, was born near Adelphi, Ross county, Ohio, May 15th, 1812, and died at his residence near Brunersburg, March 19th, 1886, aged 73 years, 10 months and 4 days. He was the youngest child and last survivor of a family of ten children. The older were George, Elizabeth, James, Joseph, Enoch, Deborah, Lewis, Lawrence and Hannah. His brothers James, Joseph and Enoch came to what is now Brunersburg, 1817 to 1822. His father was a teamster in the war of 1812, and his brothers James and Joseph were privates in Capt. Duncan McArthur's (afterward Governor of Ohio), company and were stationed at the ill fated field of River Raisin at the time of Hull's surrender of Detroit. At the age of 12 years he came from Ross county with the rest of his father's family and settled on the farm in Noble township where he resided till his death, a period of nearly 62 years. This was 1824, and government lands being cheap, different members of the family bought several fractions lying along Tiffin river, from Brunersburg to the present site of Evansport. The Fair Grounds.

Last Friday was the day appointed for the general cleaning-up bee on the new fair grounds. It was hoped by the Society that the people from all parts of the county would turn out in large numbers and give one day for the good of the Society. The day was warm, but delegations from several townships and from the town of Defiance were on hand early and worked faithfully until night. In all sixty-four persons turned out. A large portion of the track was cleared of logs and underbrush. If the people had turned out as they should, the clearing could have been done in one day. There was not a single person from Adams, Defiance (outside of town,) Farmer, Delaware, Washington, Mark or Hicksville townships. The people of all these townships are always willing to take home premiums from the fairs, but they seem entirely too indifferent to the interests of the Society. There is lots of work to be done to get the grounds in order, and the people must do it. The work on Friday saved the Society many dollars. The whole county should manifest a disposition to help the thing along.

We are going to have another cleaning-up bee next week Thursday, and we want everybody to come. There is plenty of work for all to do and there is lots of fun connected with it. Turn out. Let every township be well represented. Business is business, and this is important to all of us. To show who the faithful few were who worked last Friday we publish the names below by townships.

WILL STOP BACKACHE

A man who can do this seldom complains of backache. His kidneys are in pretty good condition Those who can not carry the children "pick-a-back," or when even less strenuous exercise causes sharp pains over the kidneys, should try a few doses of the new Barkola Globes treatment. It is said to be remarkably effective and a splendid tonic for out of order kidneys and bladder. Druggists say it is fine for too frequent urination, dizzy spells, nervousness and rheumatism. It is giving such universal satisfaction that it is sold under a positive guarantee by N. G. Woodward.

Several times in the past the PRESS has called attention to the fact that the remains of several soldiers of the earlier wars had found graves in obscure places, outside of regular cemeteries, in this county. A friend sends us the information that THOMAS JONES, a Revolutionary soldier, who died March 1st, 1838, at the age of 87 years, is buried on the farm of Geo. F. Beuclair, west of Stryker. The graves at this place will soon be lost, as the fence has rotted down and cattle run at will over the graves. There is no organization to look after these graves of our heroes of early wars. BRYAN PRESS June 18, 1885.

Compiler's note: THOMAS JONES, died March 01, 1838, AE 87 years, A Revolutionary War Soldier.

The above is on the tombstone in the third row from the west fence of the French Cemetery, south of the Intersection of CR E and CR 19-50.

Thursday of last week, Geo. Buskirk and John Partee, under the employ of Evans Post No. 149 G.A.R., of Bryan, disinterred the remains of BENJAMIN FICKLE, a Revolutionary soldier, who was buried in October, 1838, on the farm now owned by Geo. Altaffer, two and a half miles northeast of Pulaski, and reinterred them in the soldiers' plat in Fountain Lawn Cemetery at Bryan.

The bones were found in a good state of preservation, though the coffin, which was made of walnut lumber, had almost entirely disappeared. The oak boards that covered the coffin were in good state of preservation. The removal was brought about by W.E. Stough, who has been urging the matter for two or three years.

Mr. Fickle, we learn was wounded during the Revolutionary War and drew a pension up to the time of his death. The only relatives in this part of the State are his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Isaac Fickle, and her children who reside in the vicinity of Farmer. BRYAN PRESS April 26, 1888.

The remains of BENJAMIN FICKLE, buried on his farm in Jefferson township in October, 1839, were transferred one day last week to the Fountain Grove Cemetery. Mr. Fickle was a Revolutionary soldier and drew a pension up to the date of his death. The disinterment was made because his burial place was not reserved in the sale of the farm, and was made by Evans Post G.A.R. It is said that Mr. Fickle was the only revolutionary soldier buried in this county. BRYAN DEMOCRAT April 26, 1888.

Compiler's note: Please notice that the two papers disagree on the year of burial for Mr. Fickle. R.L. Cooley.

STONE DATED 1775 FOUND NEAR HICKSVILLE LATELY. A stone slab, two feet long and 1 1/2 feet wide, with the date 1775 carved on it, was found recently by Clarence Henly while hunting near Hicksville. The stone, which appeared to have been split off from a boulder, was covered with moss and was found accidently as they were pulling up some herbs. This neighborhood is devoid of natural stones and this is believed to have marked a grave.

About forty feet away, on an aged beech tree, and partly dead, is cut in the wood "J. WAGS, Oct. x, 1724," and under this comes the initials B.W. and D.W. BRYAN DEMOCRAT March 03, 1932.
